

President Of Hungary Quits Under Pressure By Communists

Budapest, Hungary, July 30 — President Zoltan Tildy abdicated today. The Communist-dominated government had accused his son-in-law, minister to Egypt Victor Csor-noky, of espionage and treason.

Tildy, a Methodist minister, be- longs to the Smallholder party, which had an elected majority be- fore the Communist coup in May of last year. He was the first pres- ident of post-war Hungary and re- tained that office after the coup.

Tildy, however, had been under Communist pressure for a year or more.

Csor-noky is under arrest. He re- signed as minister to Egypt yester- day, about two weeks after his re- turn from Cairo.

An excellent source said the pres- ident's resignation has reached the speaker of parliament and will be announced officially tonight. The speaker under the Hungarian con- stitution is deputy to the president.

The council of ministers has dis- cussed the question of a successor.

Political sources said they believed the former Socialist leader, Arpad Szakasits, is likely to succeed Tildy as president. He is now chairman of the Unified Labor party.

ASKS STATE TO REMOVE HAZARD AT YORK SPRINGS

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP)—Elimination of hazards at the intersection of Routes 15 and 94 in York Springs, Adams county, was urged today by Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams).

"I called on Chief Engineer Ed Schmidt of the State Highways De- partment and Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of the Pennsylvania state police, to do something about this crossing, the most dangerous one in Adams county," Worley told a reporter.

Both officials, he said, promised to check into what can be done.

Worley said he made the plea after receiving a report from the State Bureau of Highway Safety that the crossing was "a death spot."

He said the bureau reported six deaths have occurred at the inter- section since early in 1941.

"I have been trying for years to have something done at this cross- ing," Worley added. "You come down a hill to the crossing on Route 15 while Route 94, between Hanover and Carlisle, goes through the town. There has been one suggestion that a traffic light be installed."

BULLETINS

Washington, July 30 (AP) — Pres- ident Truman today accused the Re- publican Congress of a "blind dis- regard" of quelling inflation.

"Lasting prosperity is not assured," the chief executive declared in call- ing anew for laws to "forestall a business collapse." Such a crash may come, he said, as a sudden cli- max to the leapfrog game of wage and price increases.

Washington, July 30 (AP) — Chair- man Ferguson (R-Mich.) called his Senate Investigating sub-committee together today to begin public hear- ings on alleged Communist infiltra- tion into government agencies.

Miss Elizabeth Bentley, who has been identified by Senators as a "one time Communist espionage agent," was listed as a witness.

TWO SUITS FILED IN FREAK CRASH THAT COST LIFE

Two actions in trespass were filed with the county prothonotary today by the law firm of Swope, Brown and Swope resulting from an accident May 4 at Hampton when a tractor-trailer jackknifed and struck a barn.

The suits are being brought by Albert L. Thomas, Hampton, owner of the barn, who is seeking repay- ment for damages to his barn, crops and equipment, and by Melvin Ree- ver, Hampton, who was in the barn at the time and was injured. Ree- ver is also seeking damages to his au- tomobile which he had parked in the barn just a few moments before the crash and which was damaged.

Named as defendants in the ac- tions are the Roadway Express, Inc., of Akron, O., for whom the truck was being operated, and George Stanko, Steubenville, O., who owned the truck.

Driver Was Killed
Marion Joseph Metzler, 30, Steu- benville, driver of the tractor-trailer was fatally injured in the crash. Death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was dead when pulled from the cab of the truck.

According to news stories at the time, Metzler was driving the truck two miles south of York Springs when a light truck ahead of him made a left turn into a driveway. Metzler, according to police served to the right and struck the truck, turning it over. The tractor-trailer then jack-knifed, rolled over and struck the barn. The impact buckled the timbers of the barn and approx- imately five tons of hay fell on the tractor-trailer and on Reeve and his automobile. The tractor-trailer also struck a corn crib next to the barn and about three and a half tons of corn spilled out. It took res- cuers an hour to extricate the dead man from the wreckage.

Reeve suffered a punctured left lung, lacerations of the left leg and two broken ribs. He is seeking dam- ages to cover his hospital bill, dam- ages to his car, and loss of work.

Thomas is seeking damages to his barn, and other amounts covering repacking of crops spilled about by the cars, damage to a peg harrow, loss of crops and the like.

BOMBED FAMILY THANKS CLASS FOR GIFT BOX

The 50-50 class of St. James Lu- theran church has received in reply to a gift box sent to Germany, a letter of thanks from Mrs. Gertrud Reinholdt, of Dortmund, Westfalen, Germany, who received the box.

The letter sent to the class here was in German. It was turned over and Mrs. Langerhans of the local Red Cross translating staff made the translation.

"Two days ago we received a won- derful parcel from America," Mrs. Reinholdt wrote. "Before I continue to write I will introduce myself to you: Mrs. Gertrud Reinholdt nee Duweh. I am 35 years old. Alas I only attended elementary school so that I cannot write English. I thank you very much for your great kindness. I cannot express it in words how grateful I and my two children are for your wonderful parcel. I only can thank you very much for your great kindness."

Give Thanks First
"When we unpacked your parcel, the tears came to our eyes. My chil- dren knew such good things only by hear-say. My daughter, who is 12 years of age, said: 'Mam, first let us pray before we go to eat of those wonderful things. We will thank our Saviour that there are so good men.' We only know misery and troubles. My husband still is in Yu- goslavia as a prisoner. My oldest girl is 12 years old, the little one will be next October 3 years old. My husband does not know the little one. He was the last time on leave in January, 1945. We suffer very much under our separation. May the Lord give us in the future as much strength as until now."

"On May 20, 1944, we were bombed out. I make our living by working at home; I cannot leave home be- cause of my little girl. I too have to take care of my old mother who is living with us. She is 70 years of age. Her eyes glistered with joy when we had real coffee and the children were eating the chocolate. The children, especially the oldest one, couldn't understand what had happened; 'Mam,' she said time and again, 'Those people don't know us; why have they been so nice to us? Can you buy such things in America for money?' I only wish that I could do something for you and let you see our gratefulness. Once more many thanks and my kindest re- gards."

The letter was signed, "Yours gratefully, Mrs. Reinholdt and Mari- anne and Erika."

Lloyd, furnished $500 cash bail before Justice of the Peace F. E. Coulson, York Springs, for court. The information was filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Base- more, who issued the warrant. WILL INSTALL BRONCHOSCOPY AT HOSPITAL

The Warner Hospital Auxiliary an- nounced plans today for a benefit card party and dance to raise funds to equip a new department of bron- choscopy at the hospital.

Diagnostic and therapeutic in- struments for the new department which will "round out" hospital ser- vices here beyond a point reached by any other hospital in this section will cost about $1,200. The Auxiliary has adopted the raising of that sum as its new project.

The benefit dance and card party will be held in the recently re-de- corated Moose home and Mrs. Elmer W. Warren, chairman of benefits for the auxiliary, said today she will announce Saturday her list of com- mittee and community chairmen for the event.

Warner hospital officials disclo- sed that the staff there has approved the admission of Dr. John T. Szyplowski, an associate member of the staffs of the state hospitals at Mont Alto and Hamburg, as bronchoscopist for the Warner hospital.

Dr. Szyplowski, who also is bron- choscopist for the Harrisburg Poly- clinic hospital, will be on call for emergency duty at the hospital here. He also is trained in chest surgery.

Provides New Service

Walter R. Doud, Warner hospital administrator, said the new depart- ment and Dr. Szyplowski will make possible the diagnosis and treatment of disorders of the respiratory tract. The new department will be placed in operation as soon as the instru- ments can be secured.

It was pointed out that when the bronchoscopic department is avail- able here many cases can be handled that previously have had to be rushed to Philadelphia or Baltimore hospitals. The recent case of Shirley Gastley who drew a straight pin in- to her lung could have been handled here had the hospital possessed the equipment the auxiliary has now undertaken to supply, Mr. Doud ex- plained. As it was the girl had to be taken to Philadelphia.

The auxiliary's most recently com- pleted project was the equipping of the new kitchen at the hospital at a cost of about $6,500. The organiza- tion supplied new gas ranges, a deep freeze unit, three new sinks, new lighting, a mixer and a steam table for the kitchen.

ARMY CONVOY COMING HERE

A 30,000-mile journey, 5,000 more than necessary to go around the world at the equator, will be made by four army officers and 24 enlisted men from Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, traveling through 20 states and Alaska in a convoy of 14 army vehicles to test six types of experimental lubricants and three types of experimental tires under temperate, desert and arctic climatic conditions.

The convoy will leave the Aber- deen Proving Grounds on August 2, and will be in Gettysburg on that date, turning west through Cham- bersburg and reaching Pittsburgh on August 3.

Termed "Operation Greaseball," the convoy will proceed to its first objective, the Mojave desert in Cali- fornia, where extensive tests will be conducted, including 3,000 miles of driving through the desert.

The convoy will next travel to Great Falls, Mont., and thence to Fairbanks, Alaska. In addition to lubricants and tires two types of heaters will be tested, one to facili- tate the starting of engines in sub- zero temperatures, and the other for the comfort of the operator of the vehicle. The convoy will return to Aberdeen in February.

Abatement Period On Taxes Nears End

Tax collector J. Herbert Weikert today reminded the approximately 1,500 taxpayers who have not as yet paid their taxes for the present year that the two per cent reduction does not come off county and bor- ough taxes after the close of busi- ness Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

Those who pay their taxes after Saturday will find them at par— with the exception of the school taxes on which the two per cent off for prompt payment will remain un- til September 30.

Penalties will begin October 1.

Weikert's figures, showing ap- proximately 4,700 taxpayers in the borough also indicate that the town may now have a population of well over 6,000.

LATE TOMATO BLIGHT FOUND SPREADING FAST

Late tomato blight is continuing to spread rapidly throughout the county, M. T. Hartman, county farm agent, reported today.

Eleven tomato fields checked Tues- day showed seven of them to be in- fected, he said. Heavy infection was found in two fields, moderate infection in one and light infection in four fields. Late blight has been spreading from field to field during the past week and was very active on Tuesday, he said. He added that today also should prove climatically "perfect" for the spread of the dis- ease.

The late blight demands the "very best efforts" of every farmer, the county agent said. He also reported tobacco horn worms are present in some fields and are doing heavy damage.

Should Repeat Sprays

Urging thorough and frequent spray applications to combat the blight, Hartman added that when worms are present the addition of four pounds of calcium arsenate or three pounds of arsenate of lead per 100 gallons of spray should give control. The material recommended for the blight is, two pounds of ac- tual or metallic fixed copper per 100 gallons of spray, or Bordeaux 6-3-10, or a seven per cent metallic copper dust. Dusts, however, are not as effective as sprays in pre- venting late blight, the county agent added.

Where the late blight is already present the growers should use a Bordeaux made of eight pounds blue- stone and four pounds of fresh spray grade hydrated lime in 100 gallons, he said. The spray should be repeated every three to seven days until the blight is checked. In fields where there is no blight, spray or dust should be applied at seven to ten day intervals.

STATE OFFICIAL LAUDS COUNTY'S SCHOOL RECORD

Adams county's school directors should be complimented because the state is one of the few in the country in which planned changes have already been, for the most part, carried out.

That was the theme of a talk given Thursday afternoon at the Arendtsville National park by Roy Cleaver, advisor on consolidation of the state Department of Public In- struction.

Cleaver spoke at the annual school directors' picnic at which 169 adults and 25 youngsters were present.

While other counties have car- ried out the program of setting up a plan for enlarging school at- tendance and supervisory areas, Adams has been one of the few in which nearly all of the contem- plated changes have been carried out, Cleaver said, pointing to the es- tablishment of various joint school systems throughout the county. In a majority of counties only the plans for such jointures or mergers have been set up, he said, and the work of forming the proposed joint- ures is yet to be completed.

More Praise For Schools

Judge W. C. Sheely was another speaker who commended the directors on the "tremendous progress" made in the educational program of the county.

O. H. Benson, of the board of the county library, praised the directors for their "splendid support" of the county library's bookmobile pro- gram.

Officers of all of the joint boards were introduced as were a number of the supervising principals pre- sent.

The dinner served to the di- rectors and their families was prepared by the Arendtsville unit of the Up- per joint school system and teachers from Upper Adams system acted as waitresses.

DAYTON MAYOR ASKS GOVERNOR FOR GUARDSMEN

Dayton, O., July 30 (AP)—Mayor Louis Lehrey today asked Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to assign Ohio National Guardsmen to the scene of the mass-picketed Unilever Lens Co. plant after Police Chief Rudolph Wurstner reported the situation out of hand.

The request for troops came after police apparently had restored order at the plant where several hundred employees for the fifth consecutive day attempted to return to work.

Police broke up street fighting between pickets and non-strikers by exploding tear gas bombs. Heavy police squadrons again forced a path through the picket line and by 8 a. m. EST, the company said 217 employees had entered the plant.

At least three pickets and another man who was not identified were taken to police station. No casualties were reported.

Pickets arrested included Herbert Hirschberg, 36, Cleveland, who said he was director of organization for the United Electrical Workers (CIO) for Ohio and Kentucky.

Violence broke out again today when some 3,000 persons gathered to form picket lines in defiance of a court order forbidding mass picketing. The skirmishing was short lived, but the situation remained tense after police broke up the street fighting.

Call Fire Department

Reinforcements of about a dozen deputy sheriffs were rushed to the scene. Fire department equipment also was called out. It was held in reserve around a corner from the plant, but fire department officers watched the scene from a nearby building. An ambulance also was on hand, but it was not used.

Fist fighting and pushing marked the street fighting.

A policeman, wielding a club, chased and subdued one picket after drawing a gun on him. There was no shooting except for the tear gas bombs.

Non-strikers massed at a company parking lot two blocks from the plant. Then a group of around 100 non-strikers marched down the street toward the plant with a police line on one side and a picket line on the other. There were no incidents then, except for shouts of "scab."

The first group of non-strikers entered the plant, but fighting broke out as more tried to enter.

FILIBUSTER IS OKAY WITH GOP

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Republicans sat happily on the sidelines today while Dixie Democrats carried their filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill into its second day.

The rebellious Southerners had no opposition even from their own party regulars as they plodded through legal arguments that Congress lacks the constitutional right to regulate state election laws.

The Republicans will come out swinging next week. But all they expect to prove, one GOP leader said, is this: that President Truman was wrong when he said the Republicans could force any civil rights bill through Congress by breaking a filibuster with "cloture"—a limit on debate.

This leader, who asked not to be named, gave this preview of the Republican strategy: They will let the Southerners talk until next week. Then a cloture petition will be brought in to shut off the debate on the motion before the Senate—to bring up the anti-poll tax bill for a vote. To be invoked cloture requires a two-thirds majority.

Plan 8 Meetings Of Home "Ec" Clubs

Eight meetings of county home economics clubs have been announced for the coming week by Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative.

By law, nine U. S. states specifically prohibit a man from marrying his wife's grandmother.

SETH GORDON TO QUIT P. A. GAME POST IN OCTOBER

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP)—The resignation of Seth E. Gordon, nationally prominent in sportsmen's affairs, as executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission was announced today, effective October 16.

(Mr. Gordon is well known in Gettysburg and Adams county and has frequently appeared here in connection with official duties. He has often been speaker for sportsmen's groups in the county.)

At the same time, Ross L. Leffer, president of the commission announced the appointment of Thomas D. Frye of Westmoreland county as Gordon's successor. Frye now is executive director of the state Liquor Control Board.

Leffer released Gordon's resignation and Frye's appointment at the Pittsburgh office of the Game Commission.

With Commission 25 Years

Gordon has been associated with the Game Commission 25 years, 19 of them as executive director. He plans to engage in national conservation work but said specific plans are indefinite.

"I wish to state that this was taken on my own volition," Gordon told reporters. "I notified the commission two years ago I felt I had carried the responsibility long enough and wished to let go about this time."

Gordon entered the service of the Game Commission as a clerk in 1913. Two years later he was made assistant secretary and in 1919 took over direction of the commission after the death of Secretary Joseph Kalbfus.

Secretary in 1935

He left the state post in 1926 to become conservation director of the Isak Walton league with headquarters in Chicago. Five years later he went to Washington as president of the American Game Association.

When the Game Association was absorbed by the American Wild Life Institute in 1935 Gordon became its first secretary. He held that post until 1936 when former Governor Arthur H. James called him back to Pennsylvania to take his old post as executive head of the Game Commission.

Olympic Stadium, Wembley, England, July 30 (AP)—Uncle Sam's basketball forces led off with an easy victory as expected today as competition in six sports began in the Olympic games.

Coach Bud Browning's rangy, sharp-shooting cagers conquered Switzerland, 86 to 21, in the first round of the preliminaries although big Bob Kurland of the Phillips (Okla.) Oilers fouled out.

Olympic Stadium, Wembley, England, July 30 (AP)—Barney Ewell, 30-year-old American sprint star, blazed to victory in the first heat of the 100-meter dash in the opening Olympic games program today, and his time of 10.5 seconds proved the newly laid Olympic track is lightning fast.

Olympic Pool, Wembley, England, July 30 (AP)—All six U. S. swimmers and divers who participated in today's Olympic trials advanced with ease, fulfilling the experts' predictions that the Americans would reap a point-harvest in the water events.

Bruce Harlan and Miller Anderson, both of Ohio State, and Dr. Sammy Lee of Pasadena, Calif., all qualified easily in the springboard diving. Harlan was the leader after the first four compulsory dives with 52.8 points with Lee, the U. S. best bet in the tower dive, second and Anderson fourth.

Johnson Takes Air Command

Washington, July 30 (AP)—The steady build-up of American airpower in Europe, reflecting the strain in western relations with Russia, reached a new phase today.

A major general was ordered to England to take command of the 60 Superfortresses which flew there from this country two weeks ago. When the two wings of B-29's unobtrusively departed the United States, the highest ranking officer was a colonel.

Furthermore, when Maj. Leon W. Johnson takes over his new assignment early next week he will be commanding what actually amounts to the framework for an "air division," a unit designation widely used during World War II.

The air force now defines an air division as two or more wings. A wing is the operating formation of one or more groups of aircraft, with its own maintenance and service organizations. Customarily, a major general commands an air division.

Johnson will be under the over-all direction of Lt. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, commander of all United States air units in Europe. A wing of B-29's presently based in Germany is under Lemay's command.

Pittsburgh, July 30 (AP)—An unemployed father of 10 children today strangled his wife and hanged himself in their home while the children slept, Coroner William McClelland reported.

The largest crowd of the season, over 300 fans, turned out to witness the Community Softball league game between the league-leading State Highway and second-place Texas Lunch on the high school field Thursday evening and was rewarded with by far the best game of the season which resulted in a scoreless deadlock. Darkness halted the game at the end of the seventh inning.

Bartholomew and George Fair hooked up in a beautiful pitchers' duel and there was little to choose between them. The Highway collected nine hits off Bartholomew, four by Hankey, but could not push over a score. Bartholomew was effective in the pinches and racked up nine strikeouts. Fair gave up but two hits and fanned four.

An even larger crowd is expected to turn out next Tuesday evening at the high school field when the same teams clash in the playoff of a previously postponed game.

In the opener on the high school field the Recreation Center gained a 9-3 victory over the Stanton Legion. Jay McGlaughlin hurled for the winners. E. Timbers smashed a homerun over the left field fence for the legionnaires.

The VFW outfit moved into a tie with the Stanton Legion for ninth place by blasting out a 12-2 victory over Grandview on the college field.

The game between the Inductive and Acme was postponed when neither outfit could muster a full team.

GIANTS' MOUND STAFF IS TALK OF BASEBALL WORLD

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

What happened to the New York Giants pitching staff? Spiders spin cobwebs in the Polo Grounds bullpen. Starters finish without relief. Fireman Kenny Trinkle doesn't even make the box scores.

This strange situation has existed for almost a week. Three straight shutouts by Larry Jansen, Clint Hartung and Dave Koslo have left the National league reeling.

Seven complete games in eight pitching starts have lifted the club past the St. Louis Cardinals into third place. The hurlers throw shutouts like honest-to-goodness pitchers and not the Humpty Dumpty throwers they are supposed to be.

Koslo, particularly, has come into his own in recent days. Two straight no-run jobs, including yesterday's 5-0 effort against Cincinnati, stamp him as a most important factor in the club's pennant hopes. Before that he hadn't thrown a complete game since May 9.

Dodgers Blast Cards
Brooklyn clubbed the Cardinals, 9-6, permitting New York to take over third place. Neither club gained on front-running Boston which edged Pittsburgh, 2-1. The Braves' lead remains intact at 5½ games.

It was the 12th victory in 16 games for the Braves since Burt Shotton returned as manager.

Bill Voiselle, who fopped with the Giants after a brilliant freshman season, collected win No. 11 for Boston. He managed to weather several dangerous situations and drove home the decisive run with one of his rare hits. Mel Queen was tagged with his third defeat in the second when he was chased during a four-hit attack that netted only one run.

The Phillies made it two out of three under Manager Eddie Sawyer, subduing Chicago, 7-4. Schoolboy Rowe hurled the Phils to their nod in the off game of the series, although he gave way to Walt Dubiel in the eighth. Despite 15 Cub hits, the Phils hung a second setback on Doyle Lade. Ralph Caballero, who played under Sawyer in Utica (N. Y.), last season led the attack with three hits that drove in three runs.

Sox Start Again
Pitcher Jack Kramer and Rookie Bill Goodman got into the home run act for the first time this season as Boston swamped Detroit, 8-1, in the only American league game.

As a result the Red Sox opened up a half game lead over the idle Philadelphia A's on the strength of Kramer's 10th straight pitching success.

The Red Sox, making their first start since their 13-game winning streak was smashed, got their hits in clusters off Virgil Trucks.

40 REPORT TO TALK OVER GHS GRID PROGRAM

There is little doubt there is more interest in the coming Gettysburg high school football season this year than there has been in many seasons.

That was shown Thursday evening when 40 enthusiastic lads reported to Coach George Forney at the high school building to talk over plans for the coming season. Coach Forney had sent out 50 cards inviting candidates to the meeting and those failing to turn up were either working or away on vacations. Those who could not report are requested to get in touch with the Maroon mentor on or before August 16.

A feeling that the coming season will be one of the most successful in a long time was clearly in evidence among the group reporting. Last year the Maroons coaches started the season with a full squad of but 25 and Thursday's turnout of 40 will undoubtedly be augmented by a number who could not be present for the meeting.

Included in those reporting were 15 sophomores, all members of the junior high school squad of last year.

Consider Sites
Prof. Guile W. Lefever told the group of several sites being considered for a pre-season camp and today he and Coach Forney are checking the sites, which were approved by the group, for the availability and facilities offered by each. Announcement will be made in the near future if a site is chosen.

If arrangements can be made with physicians, the squad will undergo physical examinations on August 16 and 17 with practice starting August 18 on the high school field. Drills will be held in the evening at 6:15 o'clock in order to profit by the coolness of the evening and in order not to interfere with candidates who are employed.

The performance of the candidates during the workouts on the high school field will determine who will go to the camp which will open several days later.

Those attending Thursday's meeting were:

Seniors: John Aughinbaugh, William Bushman, Harold Dayhoff, Guy Donaldson, Harold Hankey, Thomas Hess, Robert Hottle, Eugene Kane, Richard Knox, Dave Niebler, James Nunemaker, John Shultz, William Snyder, Bruce Westerlund, Robert Williams.

Juniors: Kenneth Biesecker, Herbert Bowling, William Bucher, Charles Caskey, Charles Kitzmiller, Leo Kuhn, Harold Mellas, Paul Miller, Martin Myers, Robert Sachs.

Sophomores: Jack Bartlett, Harold Cleveland, Jay Crouse, Robert Fair, Charles Fetters, Charles Ford, Franklin Groening, Dale Hoffman, John Little, Harold Raffensperger, Joseph Redding, Robert Sanders, Wilbur Small, Fred Strickhouser, Glenn Tipton.

Managers are Fred Shultz, senior; Robert Krick, Junior, and Fred Guise, sophomore.

Barlow Noses Out Harney Nine 1-0

Barlow, of the South Penn Baseball league, defeated Harney, of the Penn-Maryland loop, in a tight game 1-0 in eight innings Thursday evening at Barlow played in connection with the Barlow firemen's festival.

In the eighth inning Ross Sachs walked, stole second base and continued around the bases when the Harney catcher's toss to second sailed into center field. On the return throw to the plate the throw was wild and Sachs scored easily.

M. Derr and Bob Brennan hurled for Barlow with Shriver catching. Snyder and Vaughn divided the pitching for Harney with Bell doing the receiving. Each team secured but one hit.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 30 (AP) — Two of the brightest young tennis prospects to come out of California in recent years — Bob Falkenberg and Pancho Gonzales — were unceremoniously bounced out of the Seabright tennis tournament this week.

That seems to emphasize the experts' contention that there's nothing like grass court play to show up the weaknesses in a player's game. After Gonzales' defeat, his conqueror, Irving Dorfman, commented that Pancho needs plenty of work on his ground strokes but was so sure of himself that he wouldn't do that work. And after Wimbledon Champion Falkenberg lost to Harry Lukas, observers said almost the same thing about him. Bobby has insisted he doesn't need ground strokes.

Maybe he and Pancho just don't like the drudgery of learning to take the ball on the first bounce and bat it back, but that's the best way to maneuver an opening to score a point.

GOLFER'S WISH
It would be grand to stand in Hogan's Brogans.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Henry O'Shaughnessy, a rookie end with the Baltimore Colts, competed in the Olympic ski trials last winter. . . . And Jeff Durkota, bidding for a place in the Buffalo Bills' lineup, fought with a ski outfit, the 10th Mountain Division, in Italy and captured a German general.

Those boys ought to be in their element at one of those late-season games in Buffalo. . . . The New Orleans Pelicans aren't boasting about it — in fact they're moaning about lack of help from the Pirates — but they're probably the only Southern Association club that ever was completely shut out in picking the all-star team. . . . The new press box at the U. of Texas stadium features reclining swivel chairs for the writers. . . . With soft cushions they'd be just the thing for dull games.

Eastern League
(By The Associated Press)
With the score tied at 6-all in the eighth, Frank Heller, Williamsport first baseman, smashed his sixth home run of the campaign. This blow, coming with two mates on the paths, gave the Bengals a 9-7 victory over the Senators and evened the current series at one game apiece.

The Scranton Miners moved to within a half-game of the Utica Blue Sox in the eastern league race by beating the Binghamton Triplets twice, 6-3 and 3-2, while the Sox were splitting a twin bill with the Wilkes-Barre Barons. The Barons won the opener, 5-2, while the Uticans took the second, 7-4.

The Elmira Pioneers divided two overtime engagements with the Hartford Chiefs, losing the first, 4-2, in 11 innings and winning the second, 1-0, in ten frames.

Philadelphia, July 30 (AP)—Billy Wyatt, 146, Chester, Pa., won a six-round decision last night over George Henry, 137, Lebanon, Pa., in a preliminary bout at the Toppi arena. In another preliminary bout, Earl Griffin, 196, Chester, stopped Archie Swayer, 183, Lebanon, in 2:53 of the sixth and final round.

Mt. Union, Pa., July 30 (AP)—Sixty pro and amateur fishermen vied for honors and $650 in prizes today in the second annual state American Legion golf tourney. Qualifying rounds got underway in preparation for match play tomorrow and Sunday. The meet is open to Pennsylvania Legion members only.

Defending Champion Leo Anderson, formerly of Phillipsburg, is chairman of the tourney as pro of the Mt. Union country club but will not compete.

Races Sunday At Williams Grove

Williams Grove, Pa., July 30—Three more stars of the Indianapolis Classic have turned in entries for Sunday's AAA big car auto races on the half-mile Williams Grove Speedway.

They are Tommy Hinnershitz, of Reading; Lee Wallard, of Lebanon, and Walt Brown, of Massapequa, L. I.

Hinnershitz will pilot his own fast Offenhauser. Leo Wallard will drive the same car he drove in the Indianapolis Race on Memorial Day. Brown is undecided on which of two fast cars he will chauffeur—the Milt Marion Offy which he has driven here before or the Malamud Offy formerly driven by Bill Holland, of Reading.

Orrtanna rallied for two runs in the last half of the final inning to nose out McSherrystown 3-2 in an Adams County Baseball league game at Orrtanna Thursday evening. The victory increased Orrtanna's first place margin over Hanover to one and one-half games.

McSherrystown scored a run in the first inning on a single by R. Noel and double by Wagner. The team's second run came in the third frame on a homerun to left center by Lawrence.

Orrtanna picked up a run in the third on a single by I. Herring, single by B. Cease and double by Singley. The winning runs came after one was out in the final frame. D. Rebert was safe on an error and K. Deardorff, batting for R. Deardorff, beat out an infield hit. I. Herring fanned but H. Deardorff singled to left to score Rebert with the tying run. Johnny Wetzel hit the first pitch of Reliefer Fritz Staub for a single to left to score K. Deardorff with the winning run.

D. Rebert and J. Wetzel formed the winning battery. Sherdel pitched for McSherrystown until Staub came in for the last batsmen, with Wagner catching. Rebert permitted five hits and fanned seven. Sherdel gave up seven hits and whiffed five. H. Deardorff paced the Orrtanna attack with a triple and two singles.

Pro Grid Game At Hershey September 9

Hershey, Pa., July 30—What may well be a preview of the National Football League championship clash next December will take place at the Hershey Stadium on Thursday night, September 9, when the Boston Yanks, contenders for the Eastern crown, tangle with the Chicago Bears, favorites to win the Western title.

This meeting between these two standout National League clubs will provide Hershey fans with a view of the greatest grid talent in the land on one gridiron.

Past affairs between the Yanks and Bears have always been thrillers. Their last meeting was in Boston last fall when the Bears made a spectacular finish to overcome a 12 point deficit in the last 10 minutes and win out 28-24. In 1946, they clashed once and the Bears took that one, 24-17.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Miss Remmel Weds Saturday: Miss Dorothy Remmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Remmel, and Ralph E. Barley, son of Mrs. Maria Barley, of Roaring Springs, were married at the Remmel home, East Middle street, Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, by the Rev. E. L. Eslinger, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist church.

Miss Evelyn Orner, of Arendtsville, played "O Perfect Love" as a piano solo.

Mr. Barley was graduated from Gettysburg college this year and at present is employed as a clerk at the Eagle Hotel.

Martial Law Is Declared by Governor: Harrisburg, July 29 (P)—In a proclamation today Governor Pinchot declared virtual martial law in Fayette county soft coal fields.

Although careful to avoid direct use of the term the governor's advisers said the declaration is tantamount to martial law and was patterned after the proclamation that sent troops to the Pittsburgh railroad strike in 1877.

Woman Buys Hotel: Mrs. John Bucher, of Bendersville, has purchased the Elkhorn hotel, Bendersville from M. J. Heller, Mrs. Bucher plans to operate the hotel.

Elected Teacher at Arendtsville: Miss Regina Oyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Oyler, Arendtsville, has been elected teacher of music in the Arendtsville schools, succeeding Miss Dorothy Remmel, of Gettysburg. Miss Oyler was graduated this year from Lebanon College, Annville.

Mollison Are in New York: New York, July 25 (P)—Leaving their wrecked trans-Atlantic plane behind them, Captain James A. Mollison and his wife, the former Amy Johnson, arrived in New York from Bridgeport, Connecticut, Monday night still shaken from their close brush with death but thankful to have reached their destination safely.

"All we want to do is to go to bed for a good long rest," Mrs. Mollison said as they arrived at Floyd Bennett field in a giant amphibian plane.

H. T. Baker Is Retained Head of S. S. Group: H. T. Baker, Littlestown, was reelected president of the Adams county Sunday school association, at a business meeting of the two-day convention at Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield, Wednesday morning. M. E. Knouse was re-named honorary president.

Other officers chosen follow: Luther Cashman, vice president; T. J. Winebrenner, treasurer; Miss Ellen E. Tipton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. R. Millhimes, recording secretary.

Fractures Leg: Horace "Piney" Bender, manager of the Hanover steam bakery store, Baltimore street, suffered a fracture of his right leg at the ankle when he tripped and fell down a flight of cellar steps at his home Thursday morning.

Is Promoted: Donald C. Stallsmith, for many years credit manager of the John C. Lower wholesale grocery firm here, has been promoted to the office of manager, succeeding the late William A. Miller, who died and was buried last week. Mr. Stallsmith will retain his former position of credit manager.

First Contact with NRA Made Locally: Employers of Gettysburg and Adams county on Friday received their first contact with President Roosevelt's national recovery administration.

Postmaster C. A. Williams, of Gettysburg, and other postmasters in the county sent to employers of more than two men copies of the President's reemployment agreement by which the administration plans to raise wages, shorten working hours and increase mass purchasing power, all aimed toward the goal set by Mr. Roosevelt—5,000,000 more men at work by Labor Day.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WASTE MOTION

We surrender so much to the many silly and wasteful conventionalities. We dodge, and run around the corner, from the obvious thing to do, and from the natural, efficient way. Often it is no more than to "show off," or to demonstrate our conceit or imagined superiority.

We are creatures of habit and tradition. We rush for the latest thing in machinery, or gadget, neglecting to oil the machinery of our mind, or to think out a more efficient way for the improvement of this mind. We forget about that never changing rule of the shortest line. The great publisher, Joseph Pulitzer, was forever emphasizing to his writers — "simplicity, simplicity."

Take that old tradition of two envelopes for wedding invitations and announcements, and the leaving of two or more cards when calling, where one is sufficient, for example. With all the evils accompanying "mass production," in the making of automobiles, and other useful things, it has enabled those very workmen to come to their place of business in one of those cars, and given great health and enjoyment, as well, at other times. Millions are benefited instead of the few.

Waste motion in war often brings defeat, as well as in times of peace. The natural, practical way is always the best and most efficient. It's the time saver, too!

The tragic and enormous number of automobile accidents are greatly augmented by speed, and a desire to get over the road as soon as possible, but that very anxiety to get to one's destination becomes wasted time if the accident occurs, as it so often does. The quickest way to one's destination is the safest one. Even the enjoyment is wasted by too great speed.

The old cabinet makers, and creators of the antiques, so sought after these days, took their time. They were in no hurry — so their work has lasted, and is prized more today than then. They bequeathed their love of beauty, and permanence, to us all. They left something of themselves behind — their intense pride in work well done — in the best possible way. There is acclaim for the genuine artist — who wastes nothing.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Just Like Children."

Just Folks

The Feet of the People

THE CHEERFUL WORD
Perhaps it's just a little lie
Or flattery tinged sweet,
But always happier am I
A cheerful friend to meet.
I know that better I shall be
As I go on my way
If someone thinks to say to me:
"How well you look today!"

Though I'm no hypochondriac,
With constant fears beset,
Imagining the dread attack
Of pain that he may get.
If someone says: "Your face seems thin,"
Although I'm hale and strong,
I believe it and begin
To think that something's wrong.

The human family seems to me
So curiously designed
That many a malady can be
A figment of the mind.
If someone with a shaking head
Sees spots upon my skin,
I'll think I ought to go to bed
And call the doctor in.

But whether it be true or no,
'Tis cheering to be told
That I have not begun to show
The signs of growing old.
Though flattery false perhaps it be,
No pills for which I pay,
As this, do so much good for me:
"How well you look today!"

SPEED PROBE OF SPECULATIONS

Philadelphia, July 30 (P)—Acting to speed the investigation of alleged Building and Loan assets speculations, Judge Raymond MacNeille threw open books and records of several dealers for investigation by the special grand jury.

Judge MacNeille's action yesterday cleared the way for faster progress of the state probe of building and loan asset speculation. It bypassed a ruling by Judge Harry S. McDevitt which had tied up the probe for several months.

In his decision, Judge MacNeille dismissed the protest of defense counsel that the special grand jury was without authority to conduct a probe.

At the same time, the jurist empowered the state to subpoena George J. Mallen, former special Chief deputy attorney general assigned to the closed building and loan division; Elihu Greenhouse, former deputy receiver, and a number of other persons.

Thomas D. McBride, counsel for Mallen, and William A. Gray, attorney for Greenhouse, then moved to block the probe again by preparing a writ of prohibition for submission to the State Supreme court asking it to overrule Judge MacNeille's decision.

The ruling by a Supreme court justice may be obtained within the next few days. Meanwhile, however, representatives of Attorney General T. McKen Chidsey and the district attorney's office agreed to await such outcome before proceeding with the probe.

ISRAEL CLAIMS NEW TERRITORY IN PALESTINE

Tel Aviv, Israel, July 30 (AP) — Israel demanded today new territories in Palestine — perhaps including Jerusalem — as a result of Jewish victories over Arab armies.

Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok served notice of the Jewish demands yesterday in an address before the Israeli State council. He said:

"The Arabs are responsible that the boundaries fixed by the United Nations no longer are practical and we must insist on changing them by adding territories and not by diminishing them."

Reject Count's Plan

Shertok said Israel plans immediate steps to place Jerusalem under Jewish sovereignty. Israel, he added, has rejected Count Folke Bernadotte's plan to demilitarize the Holy City because it provided for eventual Arab rule.

Earlier, a cabinet source said the Israeli government has told the U.N. mediator that it will discuss the demilitarization plan further if he publicly renounces his original plan to put the city under Arab rule.

Shertok also told the 37-member council that:

1. Israeli authorities will refuse to permit the return of any of the 300,000 Arab refugees to their Palestinian homes until after status can be considered as part of a minority question, including the status of Jews in Arab states.

2. Israel will demand "heavy indemnities" from the Arabs in peace negotiations for what he called "hundreds of millions of dollars lost by direct war expenses."

Partition Plan Invalid

Shertok said Jewish acceptance of the partition plan provision for internationalization of Jerusalem is now invalid because:

1. "War was waged against Jerusalem by British arms, money and officers."

2. "The Christian world did not protect Jerusalem from destruction."

3. "Most of Jerusalem and its approaches were conquered by Jewish arms."

York Officer Faces $10,000 Court Suit

York, Pa., July 30 (AP) — A $10,000 damage suit today confronts a York policeman in connection with the arrest of a York publisher on a disorderly conduct charge.

J. W. Gitt, who is also state Progressive party chairman, asked $5,000 in personal damages from Patrolman Robert Feiser for the "great embarrassment and humiliation" which Gitt said he suffered as a result of the arrest.

The civil action, filed in York county court late yesterday, also asked another $5,000 in punitive damages for what Gitt said was Feiser's "wilful and malicious conduct."

Gitt was fined $10 on a disorderly conduct charge after he and Feiser exchanged words about the illegal parking of the publisher's automobile on a York street July 9. Gitt admitted the parking illegality but took an appeal to the county court July 14 against the disorderly conduct fine.

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP) — The Roaring Creek Water Co., Shamokin, is proposing a rate increase totaling $105,425 a year starting Oct. 1.

A schedule filed with the Public Utility Commission yesterday said meter rates in Shamokin and coal and Ralpho townships would be completely revised. These boosts would affect 8,425 customers, the PUC said. Others in the Mt. Carmel Centralia and Conyngham township area would apply to 1,140 consumers.

Waynesburg Bettors Are Let Down By Weather

Waynesburg, Pa., July 30 (AP) — There is no joy in Waynesburg today—it didn't rain on July 29.

The absence of precipitation may seem like a boon to some communities, but to Waynesburg a rainless July 29 is like Christmas without carols or the fourth of July without fireworks.

A few years ago, one of the local boys figured out that it had rained on almost every July 29 since goodness knows when.

Since then, the Waynesburgites—and a lot of former residents now making good in the bigger cities—have been accepting bets on the probability of rain in the old home town on the 29th day of July.

Usually a Good Bet

By and large, the bets were a pretty good thing, because until this year it had rained on every July 29 for the last 71 years, except in 1880, 1930, 1937 and 1946.

Yesterday, as usual, the bets were down—including one made by official rainmaker John Daily with Charlie McCarthy of radio fame. Daily wagered a new hat it would "make wet" in Waynesburg before last midnight. Charlie said it would not.

The good people of Waynesburg donned raincoats and rubber boots, confident that nature would not let them down. Daily assumed his official position at the town's fire bell—prepared to ring in the glad news of a wet Waynesburg.

Revert to EST

Daily and his fellow townspeople waited, and waited—and waited. At midnight, Eastern Daylight Time, they hurriedly set the clocks back an hour—to 11 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

It was to no avail. True, rain fell less than one mile from town along the Blacksville road, but that wasn't in Waynesburg—although a movement was started immediately to incorporate the rain-soaked sector in the town's limits.

Finally, Daily admitted it had not rained in Waynesburg on July 29, 1948, and announced he was ready to send a new hat to Charlie McCarthy—as soon as he learned the radio's dummy's head size.

One Consoling Note

And throughout the town, Waynesburgites prepared to pay off their own bets to the residents of other communities.

There was one consoling note. Before the midnight deadline, Daily auctioned off a hat lost on a rain bet last year by Bing Crosby. The chapeau was knocked down for $137, with the proceeds going to the town's swimming pool fund.

And among a group of die-hard Waynesburg residents there were rumblings that the whole situation was caused by the fact that this is leap year.

Except for that fact, they pointed out, the previous day would have been July 29 this year. It rained that day.

Find Man's Ashes While Housecleaning

Columbus, O., July 30 (AP) — A routine housecleaning by the J. H. Palmore family yesterday uncovered the ashes of a man believed dead for 24 years.

A card attached to the box said the ashes were the remains of Henry Hoeflinch, 68, of Allegheny county, Pa., who died September 26, 1924.

The Palmores said they believed the box was left behind by a firm of cupied the house.

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP) — The state agriculture department said today next winter will see backlogs of butter and eggs in Pennsylvania. Storage stocks of creamery butter more than doubled between June 1 and July 1. Shell and frozen eggs also gained sharply.

WOMEN WEEP AT SCENE OF GERMAN BLAST

By RICHARD O'REGAN

(P)—Weeping German women waited today as working parties gouged into the I. G. Farben chemical plant wreckage for bodies of men missing since Wednesday's disastrous explosion.

During the night five more injured workers died at the Mannheim hospital, raising the known death toll to 138. In addition, the latest official French and German count of casualties in Europe's biggest postwar catastrophe showed 200-250 missing and possibly dead and more than 2,300 injured.

American chaplains worked throughout the night administering to the dying. The chaplains and German clergymen planned a memorial service today in Mannheim for the victims of the explosion.

Dig Through Ruins

Into the early hours this morning French and German rescue workers dug into the twisted mass of wreckage. They pulled out arms and legs and hideous cinders of men trapped by the blast that destroyed 16 buildings of Germany's biggest chemical plant.

Outside Ludwigshafen's tiny, overcrowded morgue, weeping German women waited for more bodies to be carted in.

American troops who had risked their lives in rescue and fire-fighting work had returned to their zone. The blood-stained Americans withdrew when French soldiers said their "gallant services" no longer were needed.

Praise Soldiers

The rescue efforts of American soldiers won praise from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U. S. Military Commander. He said: "American troops did a good job. I would have been surprised if they hadn't."

Praise came from the Germans, too. One German official said the Americans "saved 1,000 lives."

Before pulling out, the American troops ploughed a path to a death trap building. A German policeman said scores of bodies could be seen floating in several feet of water and ammonia in the basement.

Ignore Charges

Germans investigating the disaster brushed aside charges by Communist newspapers in Berlin that the factory was making war materials illegally. The Germans said preliminary findings indicated the blast was touched off by ethyl chloride, an industrial chemical. A chemist who worked at the plant said only industrial products were turned out there.

A French communiqué said the cause of the blast still was unknown and damage could not be estimated. French officials are making a separate inquiry. The plant is in the French occupation zone.

German officials at the factory made the surprising announcement yesterday that the sprawling plant still was operating at 50 per cent of capacity. First reports were that it was 80 per cent destroyed.

MIDWEST GETS COOL WEATHER

Chicago, July 30 (P)—Cooler weather moved into parts of the midwest today after a series of small tornadoes struck rural areas in Wisconsin and Iowa last night. No relief from the hot and humid weather appeared in sight for the eastern and southern states.

The twisters killed one child and caused some crop and property damage. They hit near Madison and La Crosse, Wis., and near Luzerne and Blairstown, in northeastern Iowa.

The Federal Weather bureau said the tornadoes were associated with thundershowers over an area from the north plains to the Great Lakes region and middle Mississippi valley. Strong winds were reported in several areas.

A tornado which struck the Frank Ballweg farm home near Madison killed Lucille Ballweg, 10, and injured her parents and nine of their children. Three other children in the family were not in the house when it was leveled.

The cool air moved into the midwest hot belt from the northern plains and extended as far east as northern Illinois.

Atomic Plant Soon To Make Electricity

Upton, N. Y., July 30 (P)—The first atomic plant able to make electric power — probably 2500 kilowatts, enough for a small village — is set to start running here in December.

This is the pile of the Brookhaven National Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission, and the tentative date was announced today by Dr. Lyle Borst, designer and director. This first post-war atomic plant is wholly scientific, for many things, all peaceful, including some power.

The pile, a preview of the future, is a huge, yellow brick, cube-shaped, single room, rising out of a Long Island forest, and towering above big sand hills. This building is six to seven stories high, its sides 120 feet by 100.

A MAN IN THE HOUSE

Chapter 7

When you were growing up, when the one serious business in life consisted in being gay and beautiful and charming, when the appearance of every attractive boy was a challenge to the competitive instinct, driving you to exert every feminine wile to the desirable end that he would find you irresistible—well, you learned certain tricks of the trade, so to speak. The trade of flirting with the male every gay, pretty girl plies, more or less instinctively, until she is safely married and comes into secure possession of a man of her own.

Trade? It was, to be accurate, more of an art. An art in which Jane, in her teens, had been something of a past-mistress. She was a born flirt.

Marriage had changed her somewhat. Jane had settled down. And that was the secret of the change her old friends detected in her.

She had told herself at the outset that there were certain rules a faculty wife must live by, standards that were set for her and which it was her job to live up to.

She must acquire dignity, school herself to a certain reticence in her contacts with outsiders, strive for poise and an outward show of maturity as befitted the wife of a brilliant and highly regarded professor of English literature.

All this had been her own idea. Carl had never once suggested to her that he wanted her to change herself in any respect. But, it stood to reason that he wouldn't want her to go on being a more or less flighty little jitters.

So she had sobered down. Since a faculty professor couldn't very well go about dancing night after night, even if he had been inclined to—and Carl was not so inclined—she had schooled herself to forget how simply mad about dancing she had once been.

Her smile was still sweet and charming, but there was a reserve about it. Now she saved her really special smiles for the times when she was alone with Carl.

Jane had, in short, set out to make a different kind of person of herself, deliberately to annihilate one side of her personality. The gay, sparkling, hail-fellow-well-met side which had once made her so irresistible to the town boys, and the boys from everywhere else whom she chanced to meet.

She had done rather a good job on herself, she thought. And it had never occurred to her that in burying her lighter, carefree, adolescent side she had destroyed some of her most compelling charm. Or that in turning herself into the kind of person she thought a faculty wife should be, she was creating a dull, lusterless being who was even becoming a little bored with herself.

Such ideas had never entered her head until today, after her talk with Aunt Mae. And afterwards, when she had pondered a little on what Tess had said, "You're the one who's getting bored, only you don't realize it yet."

And not until she had brought Ted home and sat with him on the back porch, watching him tinkering with the heel of her shoe, did she realize what fun it was to let herself go, laugh as much as she pleased, talk the craziest talk, be just the kind of person she used to be.

She told him honestly: "It's been so long since I've found myself alone with a strange man that I don't know what to say to you. I guess you'd better start the conversation."

Ted grinned at her. "Okay. Where would you like me to start from, beautiful? I can start discreetly, with how I never found myself alone with a faculty wife before, and work up from there. Or I can start with how I never met a dark-eyed blonde before and work on from there. The second approach I prefer. I won't have so far to go, and I'm a lazy rascal, even when I'm falling in love with a beautiful blonde."

"Now, Ted," Jane eyed him severely. "We won't have any of that falling in love talk. I'm an old married lady." She grinned at him. "I might also mention that I'm an old hand at crazy talk that doesn't mean anything. So it doesn't shock me, but it might bore me. So how about a little snappy conversation on the subject of shoe-repairing? By the way, were you serious about being able to fix this heel?"

"Certainly. I'll need a few small nails and a hammer." And when Jane produced the hammer, he said: "Wonder of wonders, and pretended to look amazed. 'Never did I expect to see the day when a ravishing blonde actually produced a hammer. I thought you'd bring me the ice pick, or maybe the fire tongs.'"

Jane giggled. "It's my husband's hammer. Myself, I never use it. I really prefer the ice pick." Jane laughed and pushed him down the hall toward the back porch. "You go out there and get on with your carpentering, or whatever you call what you do on a shoe. I'm going to make us some coffee. Or would you prefer cocoa? I have some little cookies. Ted ones."

Chapter 8

It was almost like having a party. It was fun. Ted finished with the shoe; he had done a remarkably good job on it. "I told you I was a genius," he reminded her. "By the way, do you have a little heavy washing you'd like done? Sheets? Blankets? You show me your washing machine, and I'll show you the end of those Monday morning blues. No fooling," he added. "I could do your washing for you."

He drank three cups of her cocoa and ate her cookies like a greedy youngster. He told her about his Army life, how he liked the lack of responsibility but hated the regimentation. Yes, he'd been in some of the heaviest fighting, but somehow he'd come through with no serious injuries. He was vague, uncommunicative about all that.

Jane found herself feeling a vague pity for him. She wondered if he was one of the misfits spawned by a horrible war for which so many of our boys had been unfitted by training and temperament.

He kidded a lot about his college work, insisted that he was taking it because it was free, and meant a temporary living besides. He said that he didn't know what he wanted to do afterwards, that as a matter of fact there was nothing he wanted to do very much. He said: "Maybe this old world will fall apart, go up in a puff of smoke, before I have to make up my mind to do anything." And then he helped himself to three more cookies.

She thought suddenly: Maybe it wouldn't be such an impossible idea to rent a room to him. After all she and Carl were lost in that great big house. And it didn't seem fair that ex-service boys should be made to walk the streets, begging people to give them a bed to sleep in.

I wonder if Carl would mind terribly if I did let him have a room, Jane thought. She could fix that big room at the back, on the second floor, which had been closed up the previous winter. Or, for that matter, she might change that room into Carl's study. That way the boy would be completely away from their sleeping quarters. If he came in late at night, they wouldn't even hear him. And he did seem such a sweet, likeable kid, it might even be fun having him around.

Jane smiled. "This is my third wedding anniversary."

"Today? No fooling? Well, good Lord. Why didn't you say something sooner? I'd have rushed out and bought you a gift. I can still buy you one. What would you like?"

"Don't you dare buy me anything. 'Why shouldn't I send you one?'"

"I'd think you were trying to bribe me into letting you have a room."

"Look," he said. "Forget about the room. It isn't so terribly important. If I don't find a room, then I don't find a room. What the heck?" he shrugged. "I'll stay on at Pauline's until her husband makes me get out."

"And what then?"

"Well, then I'll either find a room somewhere else, or I won't find one." There was something about the way he said it, the tone of his voice, perhaps a look in his eyes. It was as if he had said: Either the world will have a place for me, or it won't have a place. And I won't be surprised either way.

"Of course you'll find a room," Jane said brightly. "I'll tell you what: I'm going to talk this over with my husband. I don't know if he'd want an outsider to live with us."

"Forget it," Ted said briefly. "I'll make out. Don't worry about me or go upsetting your routine because of me. Honest, I'd rather you'd forget the whole thing."

"But why?" Jane gave him a puzzled smile. "I know you are looking for a room. And at first you were so determined to talk me into renting you one. Why this sudden change?" She smiled gaily. "Have you decided you wouldn't like me as a landlady?"

Ted took out his cigarette case. They were standing in the front hall, and he lit a cigarette carefully before putting his hand to the door knob. He glanced at Jane. "Maybe," he said. "I'd decided I might like my landlady too much."

"If you tried it, I'd spank you and send you to bed without your supper," she said lightly.

She laughed, and then they both laughed, and Ted said, flippant once more: "The trouble is, you shouldn't be married. Or else you should have been married about fifteen or twenty years. Then I might stand a chance with you. But just three years—that's bad. Why, you're still practically a bride."

"Practically," Jane said, her voice odd.

"Anyway, I can send you some roses for your anniversary. Do you like roses?"

"Love 'em," Jane said. "Red ones."

"I trust Herr Professor won't object to another man sending you flowers?"

"Why should he?" Again Jane's voice was odd. She hated to see Ted go and close the door behind him. He had taken her out of herself, taken her mind off of her sudden new problems and worry. Now, alone, it was a little as if he walked in to confront a ghost that had been waiting there all the time.

afternoon classes. The term having begun so recently, there were still many of the students especially among the freshmen, who had not made up their minds about their courses, who wanted to switch to different subjects. They kept coming to Carl, whenever he had a free moment, to ask his advice.

It was nearly five that afternoon before Carl had a minute to himself, and he found that he was tired, dead tired. He went into his office, shut the door, and sat down at his desk. For a moment he closed his eyes and passed his hand over the closed lids. He took several long, deep breaths and tried to relax. He was as tightly wound up as the spring of a watch. If he could relax completely for ten minutes or so, he would feel rested, refreshed.

Having relaxed for a few moments, he felt less tired. I'd better be getting along home, he thought. Jane might be expecting him a little early. He thought: I'll bet Jane expects me to have forgotten this is our anniversary.

She had teased him several times recently about getting absent-minded. And perhaps he was. Still, he hadn't forgotten that this was their third wedding anniversary.

He opened his top desk drawer, rummaged under a mass of papers, and found the small white jeweler's box which he had put there. It contained a pair of silver earrings.

Carl opened the box, took out one earring, and laid it in the palm of his hand. He looked at it thoughtfully. Somehow they hadn't looked quite like the sort of thing Jane wore.

Largely because he couldn't think what else to get, Carl had decided to buy them.

She had, he remembered, a set of seed pearl earrings she sometimes wore in the evening. They had been her grandmother's, and on Jane they were delicate and lovely. Perhaps it had been a mistake to buy her that sort of gift. But he had wanted to get her something personal, and his money simply did not run to precious stones or really valuable jewelry.

He was still staring thoughtfully at the earring, when the telephone rang, and as he finished talking over it someone tapped lightly at his office door. "Come in," Carl said, frowning slightly. He wished that for the rest of the day people would let him alone. He wanted to go home.

The door opened. Carl glanced up at the girl who came in and said: "Oh, hello, Helen."

The girl asked: "Have you a minute to spare, Professor Whittier? There's something I wanted to ask you: Of course, if you're too terribly busy—"

Carl smiled. "Come on in Helen. I think I can spare a minute or two. What's on your mind?"

"You hardly would have taken Helen Talbot for an honor student, largely because she was so attractive to look at. She was a tall, dark girl with a full, lush mouth. Her eyes were her most arresting feature. They were so dark they seemed black, and so brilliant they were sometimes described as fire. She was not beautiful, but she was 'different'—looking."

She sat down in the chair beside Carl's desk. She said softly: "I want to thank you again for the pleasant evening in Washington, Professor."

Carl smiled. "Don't mention it. I enjoyed it too. I dislike going to the theater alone. It was nice to have you accompany me. It was lucky you came along at just the psychological moment too, to help me select these earrings." He touched the small square box. "Like many a man, I'm pretty dumb as to a woman's taste in such things. Left to myself," he grinned, "I daresay I would have selected an old-fashioned snuff box for my wife, or something equally ridiculous."

Helen laughed throatily. "You'd better not tell your wife I helped you select those earrings," she said. "Why not?"

Helen shrugged. "I dunno. She might not like it. Wives are funny that way. Or so I've heard."

Carl laughed out. "You don't mean you imagine she'd be jealous? Jane?" He laughed again. The suggestion struck him as highly preposterous. Jane wasn't the jealous type, thank goodness.

Helen was still smiling at him. "Did you tell Mrs. Whittier what a nice evening we had?" she said. He told himself, seemed important.

Carl looked confused. It hadn't, enough to mention. But he couldn't very well say that to Helen. You never knew what crazy ideas these adolescent college girls might get into their heads. Helen might imagine that he attached some clandestine significance to that evening. And that notion was so absurd he wanted to laugh.

He didn't like himself any too well when he heard himself saying the words: "Look, Helen." He gave her a wry grin. "I haven't mentioned to Jane that I ran into you in Washington. No reason — it just slipped my mind — but if you happen to see her, maybe it would be a good idea if you didn't say anything about it."

Helen looked at him for a moment, and then she smiled. "Oh, sure," she said. "I get it. Don't worry. I won't spill the beans."

AMATEUR GOLF MATCHES OPEN

Hershey, Pa., July 30 (P)—Pennsylvania's amateur public tourney opened today with 99 golfers taking to the fairways of the Hershey park course.

The first foursome teed off early and succeeding foursomes continued in their wake at five-minute intervals for the first day of medalist play.

36-hole opening round is defending champion Buddy Heckman, Sinking Springs, who recently posted a two-under-par 286 last week in the Reading open. He placed second in the amateur class there.

Other linksmen after their second state public golfers association championship are Sam Musco, South Park of Pittsburgh, 1940 titlist, and Tony Mihalik, Sharon, 1942 champion.

Twenty clubs are represented in team competition for the John B. Kelly trophy. The lowest 36-hole aggregate score today of four men from any one club determines the winner.

The Overlook Country club, Lancaster, and Leland Golf club, Sharon, each have two legs on the Kelly GOLFALON and need only a third to gain permanent possession. The home Hershey Park club gained a leg last year. One-half of the field and ties will qualify for the final 36-hole championship Saturday.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press) Len Pillar, 22-year-old righthander, allowed only four hits and pounded out a homer last night as the Harrisburg Senators handed the Allentown Cardinals a 10-1 setback in the Interstate league. Pillar's four-sacker came in the fifth inning with one teammate aboard.

Paul La Palme held the York White Roses to six scattered hits as York was set down 6-1. The victory was Trenton's lone win in a five-game series.

The last-place Hagerstown Owls scored four runs in the eighth inning to defeat the pace-setting Wilmington Blue Rocks 11-9.

The Lancaster Red Roses and the Sunbury Reds divided in the only twin bill played last night. Lancaster won the opener 5-3 and Sunbury came back to take the nightcap 13-1.

Today's schedule: Hagerstown at Sunbury; York at Harrisburg; Trenton at Allentown, and Wilmington-Lancaster not scheduled.

FARMALL TRACTOR
You Build for the Future
as You Farm at a PROFIT!

With the appearance of the new Farmall C (above) and the Super-A, every farmer now has the opportunity to select the correct size of tractor for his farm from five basic Farmalls.

These tractors, with their matched equipment, really point the way to complete mechanization . . . and an adequate return from an equipment investment without farming more acres or working long hours in the field.

What's more, when you use a Farmall Tractor, you're actually working with one eye on the future. It's easier to practice diversification of crops for good land usage or place fertilizer correctly with matched equipment. As a Farmall operator, you can readily adopt soil conservation methods without securing special machines.

That's why farmers who plan for the future prefer Farm

SPRAY OR DUST BY AIRPLANE

For increased yields, have your fields treated by spraying and dusting. It is the speediest method and is more economical than ground applications. Crops are sprayed or dusted at the most advantageous time. Spraying can be done at time when ground is too wet or crops too tall for ground spraying. No wheel damage to crops. Covers areas which are inaccessible to ground sprayers. In addition to reasonable cost, grower has no equipment investment. Treatment is scientific—the correct mixture of DDT as recommended by the leading experimental stations for Japanese Beetle Control. The best equipment and most experienced handlers are used to assure more even effective application than any other method. We furnish everything—DDT, ground service equipment, and everything connected with spraying or dusting application. Reasonable rates at guaranteed results.

CATTLE—Today's fresh salable cattle receipts were estimated at about the same number that were received a week ago today, but the week-to-date movement fell about 20 per cent short of the same period last week and measured a decrease of about 14 per cent, compared to the like term in 1947. The run included the equivalent of about 10 loads of slaughter steers with the balance made up largely of cows.

The supply of steers consisted mainly of high-medium to high-good grade fed-on-the-grass and grass-fat steers, with grain-fed offerings, practically absent. Trading was fairly active due to the aggressive action of outside interests and sales were made on a mostly 25-50c higher basis. Instances were more than 50c higher than Monday. Bulk of the offerings scaled 1,065-1,300 pounds and sold in a range of $31—32.75. The top of $35.75 was paid for two loads averaging 1,213 and 1,269 pounds. A few lots and loads of common and medium around $25-1,250-pound weights brought $23.50—30.

Slaughter heifers were scarce. The run was comprised mainly of odd-head lots of low-medium to good grades that sold in a spread of $22—28.50. Prices generally reflected the advance in steers.

Trading in the cow department was rather slow and prices for the most part ruled fully steady strong, compared with Monday. Some sales were strong to higher. Outside interests were not as aggressive as on steers and the general trade was rather slow. However, late dealings were a little more active than early. Good cows turned mostly at $22—23.50, with only high-good grade kinds on the higher end, selling at $24 and up. Common and medium cows bulked at $19—22 and most of the canners and cutters brought $16—18. Odd shelly canners sold down to $14.50 and sometimes below.

Bulls sold on a fully steady basis and moved to a fairly early clearance. Odd good beef bulls reached $27.50; good sausage offerings turned at $24—26; odd head, $26.50; common and medium sausage bulls brought $20—23 in most cases and a few lightweight cutters sold down to $19.

Stock cattle were scarce but were about sufficient for the demand. Prices held unchanged on all grades. Odd head and small lot shipments of medium and good stocker and feeder steers and stock calves cleared in a range of $23.50—29. Compared with early slaughter steers and heifers fully steady to strong except common and medium grassers which finished on the weak side; cows very uneven but about steady; bulls fully steady to strong; stock cattle steady to $1 lower.

CALVES—Trading in the calf department was fairly active and prices were mostly fully steady but the undertone was stronger on common and medium 100-150-pound weights and in some cases prices worked higher. Bulk of the good and choice around 250-275-pound weights scaled $27—30; top $30; a few around 400-pound weights brought $26; all weights of common and medium grades bulked at $19—26; odd culls down to $14 and below.

Compared week ago, strong to $1 and in spots more than $1 higher.

HOGS—Good and choice grain-fed hogs met a fairly active market but trading continued slow on medium grades and on garbage-fed offerings. Prices for all weights and grades were 25—50c higher than Wednesday's trade, however. Bulk of the good and choice 180-225-pound barrows and gilts brought $30—30.50, top $30.50; 225-250 pounds, $29.50—30; 250-275 pounds, $28—28.50; 275-300 pounds, $28.50—27; 300-350 pounds, $28.25—25.75; 350-400 pounds, $24.25—24.75; few over 400 pounds, $23—23.75; 120-140 pounds, $26.50—27; 140-160 pounds, $27.75—28.25; 160-180 pounds, $29.50—30; sows under 400 pounds, $22.25—23.75; 400-450 pounds, $22.25—22.75; heavyweights down to $21.50 and under. Odd stages sold downward from $21.75.

Compared week ago, all weights and grades mostly 50c higher.

SHEEP—Spring lambs formed the bulk of the receipts in the sheep department. Demand was fairly active and prices held unchanged in a fairly active trade. Good and choice 77-85-pound spring lambs bulked at the quotable top, $25. A few medium winter ewes were also steady. Choice were grade 71-pounders sold at $3. Shorn slaughter ewes quoted to $10, but best on offer brought $9; high-medium to choice 80-150-pound offerings, $7—9. Compared week ago, spring lambs $1 lower; slaughter ewes, steady.

Sliced frankfurters may be combined with baked beans and some crisp vegetables such as celery or carrot or cucumber for a salad. Use French dressing on it and serve on greens.

Soviet Offer To Feed All Berlin Draws Little Response From West Sector

REPORT BIG 4 SESSIONS MAY BE HELD SOON

Berlin, July 30 (AP)—A Soviet offer to feed all Berlin drew little response from Germans in western sectors of the blockaded city today and the Russians loosed new attacks on the anti-Communist city government.

Informants in Moscow, meanwhile, said the chances are good that a Big Four session to thrash out the Berlin crisis may take place in Paris in September, if prospective talks between envoys of the Western allies and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov go off satisfactorily.

Russians in Berlin charged that the city administration was "sabotaging" Soviet feeding efforts, scheduled to begin Sunday, by preventing the unloading of imported grains in Berlin's barge harbors.

City officials denied the charge and an American military government spokesman termed it "a lot of poppy-cock."

The American spokesman said neither the city government, nor the three western military governments had placed any hindrances in the way of Russian food or forbidden any western Berliner to accept such food.

He said the Russians were miffed by the apparent failure of their feeding gesture and now are seeking to inspire a public revolt against the elected city government to advance their schemes to gain Communist control over all Berlin.

Few Sought Cards
The Western Berlin press reported that in three days of registration only 3,800 western Berliners had solicited ration cards in the Soviet sector. The three western sectors have a population of more than 2,000,000 who are being fed through the British-American air lift.

U. S. ambassador Walter Bedell Smith is back in Moscow after strategy talks in London and Berlin. It is believed Smith will take the leading role in the prospective talks with Molotov concerning the possibility of opening negotiations.

Berlin's anti-Communist Socialists have urged that the western powers, in any talks with Moscow, hold out for iron-clad guarantees against a recurrence of the Soviet-blockade.

Molotov On Vacation
Informants in the Russian capital said today that neither the United States nor British envoys have as yet sought interviews with Molotov. The official Socialist press in Berlin predicted the Russians would exploit the pressure of their blockade by delaying negotiations with the western powers on the Berlin crisis.

SET DATES FOR MILK HEARINGS

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP)—Proposals to increase retail milk prices by as much as 2½ cents a quart will get an airing here Aug. 5 and 6.

The state Milk Control Commission fixed the dates yesterday for a series of conferences on tentative orders for 12 different milk marketing areas.

They include: Aug. 5—Scranton, Schuylkill, Williamsport, Harrisburg, York, Allentown and Reading; Aug. 6—Philadelphia, suburban Philadelphia, Lancaster, Hollidaysburg and Erie.

The commission is reported to be considering a substantial boost in minimum wholesale prices to meet anticipated competition from out-of-state dealers.

The boost paid by Pennsylvania dealers to farmers may reach 80 cents a hundred pounds (46½ quarts) in some areas. This would mean a two-cent a quart advance in based its prediction on a report by the British-licensed German Press service that Molotov is absent from Moscow "on a vacation" of undetermined duration.

"That's the same sort of delaying tactics experienced with Russian officials in the four-power negotiations here," the paper said.

STAR WITNESS IN RACKET PROBE MAY BE CHARGED

Pittsburgh, July 30 (AP)—Al Florio, star witness in the Allegheny county grand jury's racket probe, faces the possibility of being charged with contempt of court.

As witnesses prepared to testify today for the fourth consecutive day, District Attorney William R. Rahauer said he was preparing a contempt citation which he would present to the court "as soon as it's ready, possibly Monday."

The action was directed yesterday by Judge Henry Ellenbogen after Florio balked when asked to give the name of a man he said had "tipped him" on information he had furnished the jury. To do so, he said, "would threaten the man's life and home."

After the flareup, Florio was permitted to resume his testimony. His charges that he could name scores of gambling places receiving police or political protection precipitated the grand jury probe.

Assistant District Attorney Samuel Strauss predicted the inquiry will result in indictments. He said many additional witnesses will be called to testify, among them Lt. Lawrence Maloney who has arrested hundreds

DUFF PREDICTS GOP WILL WIN NEXT NOVEMBER

Philadelphia, July 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. James H. Duff confidently predicted a Republican victory in November but added "I believe in keeping your powder dry and therefore I feel the best way to secure that victory is by putting every ounce of enthusiasm we have into the fight."

"For my part," the governor remarked at a garden party yesterday honoring Republican National Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., "I will enthusiastically and vigorously support the ticket everywhere in Pennsylvania and elsewhere if necessary."

The governor's enthusiastic and vigorous support of the Dewey-Warren ticket was indicative of the harmony that has returned among the state's GOP leaders since the Republican National convention. It was governor Duff who led the factional fight against the nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Confers With Leaders
During the party on the estate of Thomas Raeburn White, the governor conferred at length with former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy and other state party leaders who backed Dewey at the convention.

He also conferred at length with Rep. Scott and later announced "I am very pleased with the enthusiasm shown by the national chairman and I entirely concur with his enthusiasm."

Grundy declined to make any statement other than to say other "statesmen present" should do the talking.

Chairman Scott said early reports of Republican progress toward the November election are "very encouraging."

More Predictions
"I think the campaign in Pennsylvania as in the rest of the nation will be on a constructive basis and will accent the future of America as well as the future of the Republican party," Scott said.

G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman, said "I think the ticket is going to win overwhelmingly because the people realize that beginning with the Berlin situation and ending with high prices, all our problems are due to the bungling, unsound and ridiculous policies of Truman and the new deal."

State Senator M. Harvey Taylor, state chairman of the Republican party, also predicted "we're going to win this fight." He added "we have the best ticket in 16 years. We'll roll up a real majority this time. I personally am going to work harder than I ever have before."

Parsons Installed As Chiefs Head

Philadelphia, July 30 (AP)—Assistant Superintendent of Philadelphia Police Guy Parsons was installed as president of the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association Wednesday at the closing session of the group's annual convention.

Other officers installed were: Harvey J. Scott, Pittsburgh, first vice president; Joseph Mock, Larksville, second vice president; Frank A. Sweeney, Jenkintown, third vice president; Frank B. Titus, Lansdowne, secretary, and John G. Good, Williamsport, treasurer.

Fire Alarm Forces Giant Plane Down

Harrisburg, Pa., July 30 (AP)—A fire alarm forced an emergency landing of a giant DC-6 New York-to-San Francisco airliner at Harrisburg airport Wednesday night.

A United Airlines spokesman said the pilot landed after a fire warning signal indicated trouble in one of the four engines. Upon landing, an examination disclosed nothing wrong with the engine.

But as a precaution, all 34 passengers were taken from the craft and put aboard westbound planes of another airline. The DC-6 was returned to New York.

Butcher Cuts Prices 'To Stir Things Up'

West Newton, Pa., July 30 (AP)—George Sweeney, meat market operator, doesn't seem to have heard about the high price of meat.

Wednesday he offered wieners at 12½ cents a pound. He said he "just wanted to stir things up."

He sold 3,000 pounds and announced he would continue the bargain price today. He said he expects calls for another 5,000 pounds.

Sweeney said he had to pay about 50 cents a pound for the dogs. "Ordinarily," he said, "I sell 'em for 59 cents a pound."

Harrisburg, July 30 (AP)—Although there is a national decline in the commercial slaughter of livestock, Pennsylvania's rate is climbing says state Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst. Only five states slaughtered and processed more cattle in April, the last month for which figures are available, than did the Keystone state.

HAVE THEORY ON AIR PLANE CRASH

New York, July 30 (AP)—The possibility that the pilot and co-pilot of a United Airliner DC-6 were almost unconscious when it crashed killing all 43 persons aboard, was reported Thursday.

The New York Times says government and airtel investigators of the crash—the nation's third largest air disaster—are pursuing that line of inquiry. The Times reported the following:

Studies of the flight which crashed into a mountainside have produced the theory the pilots of the plane may have been attempting to extinguish a fire—possibly non-existent—and were overcome by carbon dioxide fumes seeping from the mechanical fire-fighting equipment.

CAB regional officer here declined to comment on the Times story. He added that it is hoped to resume public hearings on the crash next month. A preliminary hearing at Ashland, Pa., was recessed July 3 until technical evidence could be studied and evaluated.

At that time Capt. Clayton Stiles, a United Air Lines pilot, told a reporter he believed the pilot and co-pilot of the DC-6 which crashed

"were unconscious in the last three or four minutes of the plane's flight." "No pilot who was conscious would have attempted a landing on a hillside between two coal mines," he added.

END OF THE LINE

Wiseest wisecrack of the incipient football season came from an All-American conference guy who'd better remain anonymous: "Our Chicago team (the Rockets) should be better this season," he commented. "They're having practice now—something they didn't have before."

Geographers estimate that Ontario, Canada, has more than 100,000 lakes, less than half of which are named.

GOP LAUNCHES BIG AIR ATTACK

Washington, July 30 (AP) — Republican leaders launched a heavy air attack Wednesday night against President Truman's special session program, calling it unnecessary, obviously political and possibly dangerous.

GOP chieftains rushed for radio microphones to slam the President's action in calling Congress back to Washington and to explain why they probably won't do much about his anti-inflation and housing proposals.

chusetts and a GOP senator to be flamed later were due to step up to the microphones tomorrow night (ABC, 9:30 E.S.T.).

Taft set the tone for the Republican attack when he said angrily: "We would be fully justified in adjourning at once."

But he added that since the Democrats apparently don't intend to use the power they already have to check inflation, Congress will stick around for two weeks to see what it can do. One thing it won't do, he said, is approve price control, rationing or other steps he called "police state" measures.

Among state statutes in the United States, a total of 28 different grounds for divorce are recognized.
